The Routledge Companion to Severe, Profound and Multiple Learning Difficulties

Edited by Penny Lacey, University of Birmingham, UK, Rob Ashdown, Phyllis Jones, University of South Florida, USA, Hazel Lawson, University of Exeter, UK and Michele Pipe, Specialist Early Years Adviser

This companion is a timely and rich resource with contributions from acknowledged experts in the education of children and young people with severe, profound and multiple learning difficulties. It presents influential research and draws out its practical applications. Throughout, there are vignettes gathered from practitioners and descriptions of their experiences and innovations. It covers fully the rights and needs of learners aged from 0-25 years, crucial features of high quality education, effective and sensitive working with families, developments in education provision over two centuries and modern legislation. This is an essential read for students, teachers, support staff, speech and language therapists, physiotherapists and other professionals in all educational settings in the UK and abroad catering for these learners.
